PREFACE.

TH E Burthening of the Memory with more than is necessary, at the Entrance upon any Study, is certainly a great Discouragement to the Learner. I have therefore, in the present Vocabulary, avoided every Thing that is not of immediate Use, as Forreign to the Design ; and industriously omitted that vast Mob of Words with which our common Word Books do so frightfully swell : And this I have done, not with an Intention to arraign the Things of this Kind already Printed, or to condemn them as useless, (till I am better acquainted with their Author's Intentions : ) But this I will allow my self to affirm, That they are by no means properly adapted to School Purposes : For, what should a Person that is to be prepared for the Reading of Corderius, Phædrus, &c. be lead thro' a Crowd of Modern Barbarisms, and loaded with a Multitude of Words which the Romans never heard of ; and so consequently, will never be met with in any Classick, or good Latin Author: A few of which I shall take the Liberty to Instance as they stand in the Books already abroad. Such are Ingratitudo, Grossularia, Ribes, Levisticum, Nicotiana Pistacia, Aurantium, Papio, Hyspaniolus, &c.

Not to mention the Abundance of wrong Significations which they have given to Latin Words; a Fault scarce excusable, since it betrays the Learner into such Mistakes as will for ever hinder his true understanding of a Roman Author. Such are their Rendering Arbustum, for a Shrub. Carmen, for one single Verse. Humilitas, for the Virtue that is contrary to Pride. Humilis, for one that is endow'd with it. Camera, for a Chamber. Caminus for a Chimney. Æs, for Brass. Pædagogus, for a Schoolmaster. Cicada, a Grasshopper. Gryllus, a Cricket. Albumen, the White of the Eye. Laurus, for a Laurel. And an endless Number of the like, which to repeat would be unpleasant here, as they are unprofitable when they are. It would be too tedious likewise, to take Notice how often they confound Adjectives with Substantives, using them as such: The putting in of Phrases; the giving Latin Names to Modern Things; the using Circumlocutions, or two or three Words to express one in English; the throwing in of so many Compound Words upon the Back of one another. And in Fine, the inserting only of Nouns, as if Speech was made up but of one sort of Words.

Whereas, a Vocabulary ought to contain a Stock of pure Primitive Words, (and such principally, as will be required to be known in the reading of the first easy School Authors :) Which, when the Scholar is once Master of, he will Daily, and insensibly be increasing, as he proceeds to other Books; (where the Sense assists the Memory) and which will a thousand times more effectually acquaint him with their true Signification, than a Heap of barren Words, dryly strung together in the ordinary Nomenclatura's.

This following Collection, I suppose, will be abundantly sufficient for the fitting of a Learner to enter upon the reading of Corderius, the Latin Testament, Erasmus, Phædrus, Esop, Cato, Ovidii Tristia, &c. The Words being mostly Primitive, and such as frequently occur in the Books afore mentioned. Indeed, here and there you will meet with a Compound Word, but that is but seldom; and what we were forced to receive, because it is observable, That some Derivatives and Compounded Words are often more used than the Simple and Primitive.

Care

iv      The P R E F A C E.

Care has been taken to let no Word come in here, but what is purely Roman, and has the Authority of some one, or more, of the Classick Authors; and if for Method sake, we have been oblig'd sometimes to make use of a Word less pure than the rest, or whose Signification may be more doubtfull, we have not fail'd to set a Mark upon it as such, or thrown it under the Page, among the Notes.

The True and Primitive Signification of the Words, as used among the best Authors, is given, (almost all Metaphorical and Borrow'd Significations being laid aside) that so the Learner might not only have pure Words, but also, a clear understanding of their Meaning.

I have omitted several Words, which may be easily deduced from some other: For, when a Boy knows that Legere is Latin for to read, Audire, to hear, and can tell what the Supines signifie, he may be easily taught, How that from the first Supine, by changing Um into Or, a Noun Substantive is formed which signifies the Doer; as, from Lectum, to read, comes Lector, a Reader. From Auditum, to hear, comes Auditor, a Hearer. So, when he has learn'd the Significations of Vocare, Ponere, Venire; if he is informed, That these Prepositions, Ad, Con,

Con, De, In, Præ, Pro, Re, Sub, Super, being Compounded, signifie To, Together; Down, or From; In, or Upon; Before, or First; Forth, Back, or Up; Under, Upon or Over, will presently know that Advocare signifies to call to, Convocare, to call together, Devocare, to call down, Invocare, to call upon, Præponere, to put before, Proponere, to put forth, Reponere, to put back, Subponere, to put under, Supervenire, to come upon, or over. So, he that knows what Amicus, Avarus signifie, will soon learn what Amicitia, Avaritia mean: As, he that knows what Liber, Cultus are, will soon tell you that Libellus is a little Book, Cultellus a little Knife. Likewise by him who hath learnt that Tepere, Calere signifie to be Warm, to be Hot, the significations of Tepor, Calor will be presently understood.

I have indeed put in Three or Four Verbal Nouns, or Nouns which are derived of Verbs, as Pastor, Arator; but the so doing was needfull, in order to make some other Words the better to hang together.

One Thing to be observed is, That in composing of this little Book, Respect has been had all along to those Words that are most usual in the Latin Tongue, and not in the English; since this is a Vocabulary for the Learning

The PREFACE.

Learning of the former Language, and not of the latter. Besides, many Things which do frequently occur in our Tongue, were unknown to the Romans; and therefore, you cannot expect Latin Words for them; since the Romans could not give Names to Things they knew nothing of.

As to the Method, I have made choice of the most Natural and Entertaining, that the Subject is capable of; and distributed Matters into such an Order, that the Learner may at the same time, and with the same Pains, with the Knowledge of the Words, understand the Things themselves which they express, with their Order, and Dependence upon one another: And the better to fix Both upon the Memory of the young Readers, and to give them as clear an Idea as possible, of what they learn, I have caused little Draughts and Pictures to be made of such Things as are known and distinguished by their outward Shapes, with References to the Words that mention them.

Note.

TH E young Reader is to take Notice, That the Figures, (1,) (2,) (3,) (4,) (5,) &c. refer to the same Numbers in the Pictures, as those in the Cat do to the same Figures among the Words.

*The Romans ordinarily used no Covering for the Head, except the Lappet of their Gown; and this was not a constant Cover, but only occasional, to avoid the Rain, or Sun, &c. Yet, at some particular Times, as at the Sacrifices, at the Publick Games, upon a Journey, or a Warlike Expedition, we find them using some sort of Covering for the Head, which Coverings were called Pīlēus Galērus, &c.

†The Romans in no Respect differ'd more from the Modern Dress, than in that they had nothing answering to our Breeches and Stockings: Yet, instead of these, under their lower Coats, they sometimes bound their Thighs and Legs round with Silken Scarfs, or Fasciæ, which from the Parts to which they were apply'd, they called Fēmōrālīa and Tībīālīa.
